July 8, 2009:
Preventing Workplace Violence at Your Business

Presenter: Vikki Sanders, Workplace Violence Prevention Consultant, Department of Labor and Industry

Most employers are not prepared to handle incidents of workplace violence. To protect your workplace it is important for employers to become proactive.

The purpose of this seminar is to enhance the personal safety of your employees in the workplace.

You will learn:

- ❑ The four categories of workplace violence
- ❑ Warning signs of potential violence
- ❑ How effective communication and body language can help the situation
- ❑ How to make sure your team is prepared to handle a violent situation

FEATURED PRESENTER:

Vikki Sanders has been working with the Department of Labor and Industry for 19 years, specializing in workplace violence. She has worked seven years as an OSHA investigator and twelve years as a consultant specializing in workplace violence and general industry safety and safety committees.

Vikki currently is the Grant Administrator for the Safety Grant Program for the Department of Labor and Industry. Vikki has taught over 450 businesses and 45,000 employees on safety topics in a variety of industrial settings including healthcare, education, manufacturing, and business.

As a Consultant/Trainer and co-author of the workplace violence manual, Ms. Sanders offers practical tools of awareness and understanding that will help make your workplace safer.
